Family Support Worker (Indigenous Education Team)

Hiring organization

Aboriginal Friendship Centre of Calgary

Description

The Family Support Worker provides counselling support to students and families to increase the student's chances of success by developing positive skills that assist them in managing issues and events impacting their functioning and helping families to access community resources and agencies. The Family Support Worker is accountable for the development and facilitation of interventions designed to foster and promote stable home and community relationships. Utilizing systemic approaches, the Family Support Worker enhances students social/emotional wellbeing in home and school environments by establishing settings that promote mental health and wellness.
